EYES OF WORLD TURNED TOWARD NEW PRESIDENT

Expectancy Placed On Harding's First Message
To Congress.
OCCURS NEXT MONDAY
Extraordinary Session Is Called To Hear President's Plans.

Washington, April 4.—With the convening of the extraordinary session of the new 67th congress but a week away, President Harding today faced the busiest week he has had since entering the White House a month ago.

A veritable mountain of matters demands executive attention before the assembling of the new congress. Decisions must be made this week as to the precedence of legislation which congress will be called on to consider immediately; policies must be worked out, tentatively at least; a number of appointments, including diplomatic as well as domestic, must be settled upon and in addition to all these, the president must get at the writing of his first message to congress.

The press of business which the new president has experienced in the crowded month he has been in the White House has precluded any attempt so far to actually get at the construction of this first communication. The president has been able to devote only a brief amount of time to it but it is said that he already has the major part of it roughly outlined in his mind. So that its setting down on paper will not take long once he can find time to tackle the job.

While no formal announcement has been made, it is expected that President Harding will deliver his first message in person, thus continuing the practice inaugurated by Woodrow Wilson. President Harding, is a firm believer in the potency of the personal touch in his official dealings. He feels that his message will "get across" better with members of the house and senate if he can give it to them face to face, rather than trust its delivery to the impersonal attention of a reading clerk.

The importance which Republican leaders here attach to Harding's first message can hardly be exaggerated. They feel that not only will the ears of the whole country be turned toward Washington next Monday to hear the first authoritative outline of the new administration's policies, but the eyes of the world also will be focused in this direction.

The Harding inaugural dealt with the question of foreign policies only in broad, general terms. Foreign nations are anticipating that the Harding congressional communication may get down to brass tacks.

It is a foregone conclusion, however, that the major part of the first message will be devoted to domestic matters, particularly the big three—taxation, tariff and the railroads. For the last four weeks these three problems with all their multitudinous side issues have been the subjects of protracted and continuous conferences. Out of these conferences, the president has been able to formulate, roughly, at least, a foundation on which to build. The results of this carpenter work are expected to be revealed to the public one week from today.

SURRENDERS AFTER DOUBLE KILLING

Columbus, O., April 4.—"My life means nothing to me at my age and I trust in God to take care of me," said James Conwell, 57, colored who gave himself up to the police and confessed that he killed Mrs. Amanda Paxton 60, and Mrs. Georgia Watson, 44, both colored, Saturday night.

Conwell said that the double murder, which occurred in the home where the three lived, 26 Garfield Avenue, took place "in a fit of passion" and that "at heart I'm not a bad man."

Pending arrival of her daughter, Mrs. Grace Shelton, from Boston, Mass., the body of Mrs. Paxton is being held at Adams' morgue. Mrs. Watson's body will be held at Whitaker's morgue until relatives from Chicago arrive.

P. R. R. SHOPMEN ASKED TO ACCEPT 22 PER CENT CUT

Pittsburgh, Pa. April 4.—Pennsylvania railroad shopmen, numbering 44,000, according to the company's estimate, were today asked to accept a 22 percent reduction in wages, or a cut of from 85 to 66 cents an hour, by the general managers committee of the company at a conference now in progress here.

The actual wage cut proposed is 19 cents an hour, or $1.39 a day and trades affected are machinists, boiler makers, blacksmiths, sheet metal workers, electrical workers and railway carmen. Maintenance of way and signalmen refused proposed wage cuts last week and their cases will go to the federal railway labor board.

VOLCANO IN ACTION; LAVA SHOOTS OUT

Vera Cruz, April 4.—The volcano of Popocatepetl is in action again. A message received here says thousands of inhabitants of the surrounding area are fleeing. Columns of gas and sulphurous smoke are shooting skyward to a height of more than 3,000 meters. Streets in three nearby towns are covered with hot lava.

EX-EMPEROR IS STILL IN LAND SAYS HUNGARY

Reports As To Future Plans Are Again Conflicting.

SAID TO BE ILL

Believe Charles May Remain
In Country Until Ousted.

London, April 4.—Charles, ex-emperor of Austria whose coup to win back the throne of Hungary proved a complete failure, had not left that country early today and reports as to his future plans were again conflicting.

The latest dispatch at hand as this is cabled was one from Vienna to the Central News which said that the Swiss legation there had announced the ex-ruler would leave for Switzerland today. It added that he would be escorted to a remote village in the canton of Lucerne.

Previous advices had reported him to be ill at Steinmanger, Hungary, whither he went after the frustration of his dynastic coup. Meanwhile the report persists in some quarters that the former monarch is merely "stalling."

A dispatch to the Daily Chronicle from Steinmanger dated Sunday says flatly that Charles does not intend leaving Hungary and quotes a high military officer in closest touch with the ex-emperor as authority, adding that Charles certainly will not leave "as long as no French or English troops are sent against him."

But the little entente, Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia, reinforced by Italy, is exerting powerful pressure with the view to making it plain to the former monarch that there must be a prompt and positive end to his flirtation with his lost throne. All these powers according to a Belgrade dispatch to the Morning Post, have sent an ultimatum to the government of Hungary demanding that Charles leave that country at once.

WILL CONDUCT LAST RITES FOR KING OF MINSTRELS, TUESDAY

Al G. Field Dies In Columbus Sunday After Illness.

Columbus, O., April 4.—Funeral services over the body of Al G. Field, 72, widely known minstrel King, will be held at the residence, 29 West Third Avenue at 2 p. m. tomorrow. The Scottish rite ceremony will be invoked. The body will be placed in the family mausoleum in Greenlawn cemetery here. Field's death which occurred Sunday, terminated illness lasting about 18 months. due to Bright's disease. He had been bedfast during the past eight weeks. His estate is valued at about $500,000.

U. S. NO LONGER REQUIRES PASSPORTS

Washington, April 4.—The United States no longer requires passports for American citizens leaving or entering the country, or for aliens leaving the country, the state department announced today.

The new ruling of the state department is based upon an opinion by the attorney general that the passport control law was repealed by the resolution passed by congress terminating certain war legislation.

SEE DECLINE IN PRICE OF LIQUOR

Washington, April 4.—A decline in prices of liquor for the sick was predicted today by prohibition officials.

Whisky, wine and other medicinal liquors, under the latest government order, are being bought by druggists direct from distillers' warehouses. This cuts out middlemen's profits.

Officials in charge of enforcement said today they have made it possible for retail druggists to save more than 25 percent in the cost of medical liquors and that this reduction should at once be reflected in lower charge to the public.

NEW RECRUITS ARE CALLED BY TURKS

London, April 4.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, Turkish nationalist leader, has issued a proclamation for a new mass levy of recruits according to a Constantinople dispatch to the Daily Express. In it he promises that "if the Greeks are defeated this will be our last fight."

BEAUTIFUL DEBUTANTE IN ELOPEMENT

GERMANY IS TOLD U. S. STANDS WITH ALLIES ON REPARATIONS

Washington, April 4.—The United States has informed Germany that this government still stand with the allies with regard to the payment of reparations, the state department announced today.

The state department announced that communication has been sent to Ellis Loring Dresel, American commissioner at Berlin setting forth the views of this government. The communication is in response to informal statements exchanged between Dresel and Dr. Simons, German Premier.

Conference Called To Aid Producers and Exporters

Take Up Problem Of Providing Credit, and To Effect
Release Of Enormous Stored Stocks Of Surplus
Commodities In Domestic Markets.

Washington, April 4.—The problem of providing credit to producers and exporters and to effect a release of enormous stored stocks of surplus commodities in domestic markets, was up for solution today at a special conference of government officials and financiers, called together to find a remedy for conditions that are perilous to the farmers of the United States. The meeting called by officials of the war finance corporation took up

THROUGH WITH KINGS AND EMPERORS FOR ALL TIME, IS WORD

Nation Of Czecho-Slovakia Thoroughly Democratic.

Berlin, April 4.—Czecho-Slovakia is "done" with kings and emperors for ever.

In answer to my telegram to President Masaryk of the Czecho-Slovakia republic requesting a statement concerning the official attitude of the Prague government toward ex-Emperor Charles' attempt to restore the Hapsburg monarchy, I received today the following message from Dr. Samal, Czecho-Slovak chancellor: "Your telegram was shown to President Masaryk who states that Czecho-Slovakia is in no danger of monarchical experiments. Its population is thoroughly democratic and against a restoration of the monarchy. The government stands united with all parties in opposing the Hapsburgs who were greatly responsible for the horrible war. Their return would have a decidedly bad effect upon European peace. This opinion is shared by all our neighbors and by the great powers."

EX-EMPRESS NOW RAPIDLY SINKING

London, April 4.—Augusta Victoria, ex-empress of Germany, is rapidly sinking, according to a dispatch from Berlin to the Daily News, the condition of the ex-empress is described as more precarious than at any time since she was stricken with the heart disease from which she has been suffering at Doorn for several months.

THREE DEAD AS GUN IS WIELDED BY CRAZED MAN

Two Policemen Shot To Death In Indiana
City.

SCORES TERRORIZED

Murderer Turns Weapon
On Himself As Capture Imminent.

Michigan City, Ind., April 4.—Three dead, one seriously wounded, and a woman missing is the aftermath of a tragic shooting affray that terrorized scores here last night. Four persons are held by the police pending a thorough investigation. J. M. Zimmerman, night captain of police, and Paul Spencer, a patrolman, were shot and killed by William Risciau, a former railroad fireman, who later ended his own life. Helen Conway, a member of the party which was with Risciau, is missing and it is feared she may have drowned herself in the river here. Harry Arndt, a restaurant man, has bullet wounds in each leg from shots fired by Risciau. Those held by the police are Pauline Gibson, William Caruth, James Gaster and W. M. Hayes.

The shooting is said to have followed a drinking party of which Risciau, the two women and Caruth were members. It occurred on the main street of this city and scores of passersby were frightened by the shooting.

According to eye witnesses Risciau, Caruth and the two women hired a taxicab early in the evening and set out in search for liquor. Later they returned to the hotel where they had hired the cab. Risciau and the Conway woman, it is alleged, were quarreling and Zimmerman and Spencer were shot when they sought to halt the quarrel.

After shooting the two policemen Risciau forced three men to alight from a passing automobile and compelled the driver to take him to the restaurant run by Arndt. There he demanded a gun and as Arndt turned to comply, Risciau fired twice, the bullets entering Arndt's leg.

Risciau then went back to the automobile. The driver had fled. Risciau tried to start the car but failed and he then fired a bullet into his own brain.

During the shooting in which the two policemen were killed the Conway woman disappeared.

She was tracked to the river where the tracks led directly into the water. The river is being dragged today for her body.

APPEAL IS MADE AMERICAN LEGION FOR EX-PRESIDENT

Wants Aid To Release
Former Leader Of Guatemala.

Washington, April 4.—Manuel Estrada Cabrera son of Estrada Cabrera, former president of Guatemala, who is in prison in Guatemala City today appealed to the American legion to support him in his effort to gain his father's freedom.

In a long telegram to F. W. Galbraith, commander in chief of the legion, the young man pointed out that President Cabrera who, as head of the Guatemala republic was the first in Central America to follow United States into the great war, today languishes in a felon's cell in Guatemala, a political prisoner actually in the custody of a minister of war who is an ex-German soldier.

Young Cabrera virtually accused the Wilson administration of bad faith in refusing to take active steps to bring about the release of the deposed president who, he asserted, was imprisoned as a result of the "wantonly violation of a solemn pact entered into under the plan of the American flag."

He stated he is hopeful that President Harding and Secretary Hughes will prove more sympathetic and asked the legion lend its support because of the aid Cabrera gave the allies during the war.

KENTUCKY PLANT IS BLOWN UP

Bowling Green, Ky., April 4.—The nitro-glycerine plant of the Eastern Glycerine Company, located four miles west of Bowling Green, was destroyed by an explosion Sunday afternoon. The force of the explosion rocked this city, and windows in houses within a radius of a mile and a half were shattered. The cause of the explosion has not been determined. Reports vary as to the amount of nitro-glycerine in the factory but it is believed that from 30 to 500 quarts exploded.

GENERAL STRIKE LOOMS BEFORE GREAT BRITAIN

COMMANDER OF
MISSING U. S.
NAVAL BALLOON

Chief Quartermaster George K. Wilkinson, who is in command of the naval balloon A-5597, which has been missing since it left the Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla., March 22. The balloon carried a crew of five. It is feared that all have been lost. Planes and dirigibles are searching for the lost aeronauts.

KNOX CONFERS WITH VIVIANI

Case Of France vs Germany Presented To Senator.

Washington, April 4.—The case of France vs Germany was presented today by Rene Viviani, former French premier to Senator Knox, Pennsylvania, author of the congressional resolution to end the technical state of war between the United States and Germany, which Republican leaders are preparing to jam through the new congress.

A protracted conference took place between Viviani and Senator Knox at the latter's residence here which it is understood was similar to that held last week by the French envoy with Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee. Domestic conditions in France, as well as the international problems besetting her, especially those involving her efforts to compel Germany to make adequate reparations for the havoc she inflicted upon the French people, were described by Viviani to Knox, it was said.

Knox is among the members of the senate foreign relations committee who will attend a dinner given in Viviani's honor here tonight.

It is understood the gathering will afford the French statesman ample opportunity to discuss with the Republican senators who will help shape the course of President Harding's foreign policy, all those international questions which grew out of the peace conference and the refusal of the senate to accept the Versailles treaty with the league of nations "inextricably interwoven" with it.

FEELING AGAINST MAN IS RUNNING HIGH

Owosso, Mich., April 4.—Feeling is running high in Shiawassee county today following the admission of Forrest Higgins, sweetheart of Lucy Whitman, 19, that he was present at the death scene, a lonely spot near Durand, that he saw the girl take poison and satisfied she was dead fled Railroad men found the body of the girl near the Pere Marquette tracks. She was soon to have become a mother, physicians declare. Higgins has been charged with the murder.

BISHOP MATTHEWS' BODY LIES IN STATE

Dayton, April 4.—Funeral services for Bishop G. M. Matthews, of the U. B. Church, who died Saturday night, will be held at the First U. B. church here Tuesday at 2 p. m. the body lying in state from 11 a. m. He was the senior bishop in the church and the oldest in the U. S. He was born near Cincinnati in 1848. Death was due to a nervous breakdown.

NATION TAKES OVER CONTROL OF THE MINES

Attitude Of Parliament Expected To Be Revealed
Soon.

RIOTING IS REPORTED

Rail Men and Transport
Workers May Go Out
On Strike.

London, April 4.—Premier Lloyd George in opening today's parliamentary emergency session, called by King George as a result of the great coal strike announced the government had taken over the control and direction of all coal in the United Kingdom. This converts the momentous battle between miners and mine owners into one between the miners and the government, with the owners a vitally interested third party.

London, April 4.—A general strike by the entire triple alliance—miners, railwaymen and transport workers—is to be reckoned with, the cabinet concluded, at a conference held just before the opening of the parliamentary session called by King George as an emergency measure for this afternoon.

Premier Lloyd George and the other ministers are understood to believe such a strike is inevitable and to have discussed plans to cope with it.

If the rail men and transport workers actually join the miners it will be the first "triple alliance" strike in the history of the kingdom. In every previous crisis such a general walk-out was avoided at the eleventh hour.

London, April 4.—All eyes in Britain were fixed today upon parliament where the government is expected to reveal this afternoon its attitude toward the great coal strike which has laid idle practically every miner in the United Kingdom and threatens to extend into a walkout of the miners' partners in the "triple alliance," the railwaymen and transport workers.

Both houses of parliament were called by King George as an emergency measure. Their convening will mark the beginning of a determined contest between capital and labor and spirited debates are looked for when the government's spokesmen announce their plans. Premier Lloyd George is expected to lay them before the nation's law makers in person.

Rioting was reported early today from Scotland, where striking miners stoned collieries. At Falkirk a mob of strikers and sympathizers attacked non union miners guarding the railway. Naval men are being drafted to replace the crews manning mine pumps to prevent flooding.

The gravest development of the week end was a country wide movement of union workers, notably rail and transport men, to support the miners. Meetings held in all parts of the kingdom adopted resolutions to send delegates to a general labor conference to be held Wednesday. To forestall a sweeping sympathy strike order by that conference will be the government's main task.

Premier Lloyd George arrived at No. 10 Downing Street shortly after noon and summoned the cabinet for a pre-parliamentary conference.

BOY IS KILLED PLAYING INDIAN

Dayton, O., April 4.—Sherman Roberts, 16, Albert Truscott, 13, and Carl Bryan, 15, were being questioned by juvenile court officers today over the death of George Kohlbacker, 14, late Saturday afternoon. The lad with a bullet wound in his right chest was found dead near a gravel pit and with his dog, "Buckets" howling above his body. The boys say they were shooting at one another, using 22 short rifles and revolvers. Seeing Kohlbacker drop behind a pile of sand, they say, they ran away thinking he was hiding, so wished to "fool" him.

TWO BREAK JAIL AT SPRINGFIELD

Springfield, April 4.—By drilling a hole through the brick wall Corbett Dean, held for carrying concealed weapons and H. B. Hood, charged with embezzlement, made their escape from the county jail early Sunday.

They were on the third floor and used the sheets from their cots as a rope to reach the ground. An iron rod taken off a bench was the instrument they used to drill the hole in the wall.

Five other prisoners on the same floor were prevented from escaping because the hole was not large enough for them to crawl through.

The Markets

Money has ceased to be a chief obstacle to recovery in the stock market. Business conditions are now the main deterrent, and these show unmistakable improvement. Advances from the automobile industry have created much favorable sentiment, and in conjunction with easier money, put the list higher and caused rather marked advances in particular stocks. From each upward surge there are reactions and it is not yet clear that the market is entering upon a sustained advance. Further readjustment is in prospect, although in effect it will probably not compare with the liquidation of past months.

Sufficient call money has been available to finance a considerable volume of trading and real easing tendencies are noted. The period of easy money should extend for some time in order to provide a stable foundation for a pronounced upward movement.

Grain

The farmer will sell new wheat in the neighborhood of $1.00 per bushel, the bears' prophecy and the harvest promises to be unusually early. Trading in July, which represents the new crop, started at $1.22 to $1.25. The premium on cash wheat and export demand have been chief supporting factors, while against them is arrayed the excellent crop prospects. The cold wave proved merely a transient bullish influence as the damage did not appear serious. Technical rallies necessarily take place, but no reversal of the downward trend of March is probable in the near future. Whether prices will decline further in the next few weeks depends to a large extent upon the nature of crop advances. Corn and oats are depressed by the excess of supply over demand.

Livestock

The hog market became erratic after a long period of stability and violent fluctuations marked its course. Growers curtailed shipments sharply in the face of the decline. The cattle trade was fairly stable and live mutton encountered no serious reverse. Demand for stock cattle fell off somewhat toward the end of March as contrasted with trade early in the month, due to fear of a packing house, strike, tight money, and other factors. Light lambs have commanded a premium. Mature sheep are scarce. Western roads are reported as having announced a 35 per cent reduction in cattle rates between the southwest and north-west.

Cotton

The general level of prices in the cotton market has not changed greatly of late, but sentiment is rather bearish owing to the large supply confronting the trade. A moderately large crop this year would preclude any marked recovery in prices during 1921. Fears of labor trouble in the British coal mines had a depressing influence. Advances from the goods trade are of mixed character, but some improvement in demand appears. Georgia farmers hold 50 per cent of last year's crop, a questionnaire indicates. Most of this 50 per cent are disposed to sell when prices reach 18c. Meantime 70 per cent of banks are reluctant to loan money to growers who owe substantial amounts on the last crop.

Wool

Increased mill operations are the likelihood of an emergency tariff on foreign wool have improved the wool outlook. Imports of foreign wool to date have been large. The Boston Wool Trade Association estimates the wool, tops, and yarns, imported in 1921 at 106,000,000 pounds, equivalent to about 167,000 000 pounds of domestic wool or about 60 per cent of the 1920 domestic clip. Wool growers and buyers in the country are dead locked. Growers are less enthusiastic about forming pools this year than last, probably because pools have been unable to raise prices. Increased mill operations extend the principal hope of recovery in the wool market, and any recovery will be gradual.

Metals

Demand is increasingly active from the automobile and construction industries and a better feeling exists in the steel trade than recently, although movement of tonnage has not increased appreciably. Export business is crippled by competition from abroad. Steel makers are less inclined to shade prices than heretofore. Only slow improvement is expected in the demand for pig iron and production is very much curtailed.

Agriculture

The winter agitation for legislation and the adoption of policies favorable to agriculture both state and national, has not been in vain, although specific measures passed of widespread influence are few. Bills like that for control of the packing industry failed of passage, but the mere introduction of a genuine measure was in some cases a triumph for the farmer, and the consideration at the hands of the lawmakers and the general publicity which various bills sponsored by farm organizations have received assure for later bills, perhaps of a higher character, a sympathetic hearing. Recent agitation has prepared the ground for important revisions of policy governing agriculture and the improvement of marketing systems.

The farmers have demonstrated that they are an abiding and powerful influence in public affairs. Through concerted action they must conserve the fruits of past and present legislative effort. A question arises as to how much the deplorable conditions in North Dakota are due to economic conditions affecting the whole country and how much to Non-Partisan control. Perhaps they are due in some measure to the obstruction of interests that oppose the Non-Partisan league. It seems more than a coincidence that conditions prevailing in other preponderantly agricultural states should be so intensified in North Dakota. Whatever may be said of state participation in industry today at a time when experiments are dangerous. The least indictment that can be made of it in North Dakota. Whatever may be provided those palliatives and correctives that private management might have known how to provide.

Farm organizations have not been able to remove, or materially lighten the burdens of deflation as they affect the farmer, and co-operative effort has disappointed those who predicted most for it. Union nevertheless remains a source of strength, and farm organizations deserve the unstinted support of their members in every worthy activity. The power of organization is capable of abuse, as combinations of business men and wage earners have demonstrated. The farmer, with numerous examples of this abuse before him, will avoid falling into excess.

The government has a plan for diverting immigrants from the cities to the farms, especially to the uncultivated but arable land in the West and South. As a long-time policy this intention is commendable, as it will aid in the upbuilding of the country and will simplify the problems of Americanization. In its immediate effect, however, it would react upon the farmer adversely. Production is more than enough for present needs and farm prices have sunk below cost of production. It is a question whether the stream of immigration should be allowed to flow. The farmers will have more objection to unrestricted immigration than to soldier settlement on western lands. An abundance of farm labor is available according to report of the department of Agriculture covering all sections, and the farmers do not need immigrant labor to till their 1921 acreage.

Congress at its next session promises to remove the subject from the zone of controversy by strictly limiting immigration for a definite period of time.

"BOOZE" STATUS IS PUZZLING TO NEW REGIME IS WORD

Washington. — The status of "booze" is now one of the major issues troubling those holding the reins of power. The trouble all arises out of the so-called exemptions specified by Congress authorizing the legal manufacture, distribution, sale and use of non-beverage liquors of all kinds. The fight now pending revolves around the point of how far Congress intended to be "liberal" in the use of medicinal and other liquors.

The "dry" bars were let down, and a flood of regulations were practically nullified by a recent opinion framed by the then Attorney-General Palmer. This edict held that Government prohibition officials had no power to limit the manufacture or sale of whiskey or other liquors for non-beverage purposes, or restrict the issuance of permits to classes entitled to them, except insofar as Congress may have specified certain limits.

The new administration, taking over control of dry law enforcement, confronted a task surrounded with confusion. The upset caused by the Palmer opinion leaves to new officials the duty of drafting practically a new code for liquor law enforcement. Previous rulings virtually "scrapped" many of the more drastic rules that had been in force. The lesson of the first year of dry enforcement has been a severe one. New officials have begun work with a view to avoiding many pitfalls into which their predecessors fell. Many dangers of enforcement must be overcome officials predict, by avoiding too extreme measures dealing particularly with the so-called "exempted" classes, authorized to withdraw liquors and sell them to persons permitted to buy.

The real truth about failure in enforcement is found in an attempt by former dry law officers to concentrate a mere handful of Federal agents in trying to detect trivial violations of the statute, while the "big fellows" have gone unmolested.

BODY IS RETURNED

Findlay, April 2. — Exhumed three times, the body of Virgil M. Terrell, former Findlay resident, has been returned here for burial again. Terrell met his death mysteriously in Georgetown, Minn., last January. The body has been exhumed three times in an effort to solve the mystery surrounding his death. His lifeless body was found in his home where he lived alone, his head in a coal stove.

Physicians said they found marks of bodily violence. Georgetown authorities requested that the body be returned here for further examination two weeks ago. Mrs. Palesch, a sister has just brought it back here again for interment.

Motorizing Famous Penn State Police to catch Modern Auto Crooks

While the famous Pennsylvania State Police, for fifteen years the most efficient and highly organized police force in the country, is not thinking of withdrawing its greatly admired horses from the service, as these animals still have their uses, especially in riot duty, time changes all things and in efficiency the Keystone State has again shown the way to keep up to date.

Many times in recent years, especially when on the track of an automobile thief or when endeavoring to run down one of the ever-increasing tribe of "speed fiends," the State Troopers have felt the need of swifter mode of traveling than was possible with their horses. So the force has finally been motorized.

Pennsylvania first tried out the motorcycle for its men less than a year ago, when at Harrisburg, the capitol, a group of State Troopers, the finest and huskiest lot of men one could ever hope to meet, lined up before the capitol steps for inspection by Governor Sprout. Every one in the "division," as it was called, was proudly designated by the commander as a "four-square, straight-shootin', be man," and they sure did demonstrate who was boss of the law.

This group, in their sombre-grey uniforms and "Sam Brown" belts, looked good to the vast crowds that came to see them, and what is more to the point, they made good at once by recovering two high priced stolen automobiles on their very first day of service.

Headed by Major L. G. Adams and Deputy Superintendent Major W. H. Mair, the Pennsylvania State Police Force is composed of five troops with headquarters at different points throughout the state. Each troop has fourteen substations with three to five men and equipment, so that the state is virtually covered as with a blanket. Each of the five main troops is composed of one captain, one lieutenant and eighty enlisted men. Each troop has a full equipment of motorcycles as well as horses.

Ever since the motorcycle troopers got on the job, they have had enough hazardous experiences in an average day to last most persons a year. The job of dealing with speedy criminals of all kinds has very frequently necessitated the use of pistol or club; of traveling miles at breakneck speed over a roundabout course to head off a lawbreaker bound for the state line, or giving chase to a recklessly driven automobile over a tortuous mountain road.

Late last summer the New Brighton sub-station was apprised of the fact that thieves had gotten away with the City Recorder's car from in front of the Pittsburgh County-City Building. Private Breese on his motorcycle, after an exciting chase, overhauled the car. The men were heavily armed and strongly resisted arrest, but Private Breese, single handed, arrested and disarmed them. The prisoners had with them a veritable arsenal of automatic revolvers and cartridges as well as a complete apparatus and tools for the erasure and reprinting of automobile numbers.

While on night patrol duty on the Lincoln Highway a motor policeman observed a wildly-careening car advancing toward him at a high rate of speed. He gave chase. The reckless driver swung his car sharply to the left in an effort to run down the state cop directly behind, every time he approached at the rear of the car and commanded him to stop. This kept up for many miles until finally the motorcyclist decided on a show-down. He sped rapidly along until he was at the side of the driver, and then deftly shoved the barrel of his revolver in to the fellow's ribs and again commanded him to stop. He stopped, with a suddenness which sent the rear seat passengers sprawling over those in front. The party of four was taken in. It was found that the automobile as well as the load of booze, had been stolen.

Only a few weeks ago, Troop "A" Headquarters received word that the messenger from the Citizens Deposit and Trust Company, in a Western Pennsylvania city, had been held up and robbed of $82,000. Four young men in a big touring car, headed east, were alleged to be the guilty parties. Six motorcycle men were immediately dispatched to the scene from Troop Headquarters and they began coming the entire vicinity. The same day word was received from the garage in the near-by town that four men with a big blue touring car, had come to the garage and, after having a new tire fitted to one of the front wheels and the gas tank filled, politely thanked the garageman by viciously assaulting him with an engine-starting crank.

The Bedford station, in which detection the car was headed, was notified, and two motorcycle policemen from the station traveled thirty four miles and intercepted the car with its load of crooks, after they had traveled twenty miles from the garage. The gang, while not guilty of the robbery of the messenger, admitted that they had robbed a garage at Beaver Falls. On investigation it was found that two of the men were wanted by the city of Detroit for highway robbery and for murder.

The need for motorcycles was brought out most pointedly, perhaps, while the first men were in training. An urgent call came into Troop "D" Headquarters from Butler, advising that a band of robbers with an automobile had looted the local bank, killed the bank president and cashier and wounded a couple others. The job was detailed to Sergeant Martin. The sergeant mounted his horse and speeded into the place at his chargers best pace, but the bandits had already skipped the town.

and as a result, even though he spurred his horse to the utmost, it was impossible for him to catch up with the bandit automobile. The disappointed sergeant tried to head off the car by telephoning and then by appealing to city police but without results. Later, when he reported his failure at headquarters, he was asked how he thought he could have captured the fellows. He replied that he could have done the trick easily had he learned to ride a motorcycle.

The trooper tried to borrow an automobile, but without any luck.

The Troopers learned their "paces" on the motorcycles as only quick thinking men can. Hardly 8 weeks elapsed from the time the order for motorization was placed to the time the men assembled on the capitol steps at Harrisburg ready for action. Five men from each troop had been picked out and sent to Milwaukee for a three week intensive course of training in the care and operation of motorcycles. This was done so that they, in turn, could assist in the training of their fellow-troopers in the art of handling their machines which they have now accomplished. Of these, twenty three had never ridden a motorcycle and five of them not even a bicycle.

Teaching green men in two weeks all the ins and outs of motorcycle care, operation, and maintenance—knowledge that the ordinary motorcyclist gradually picks up during a year or two of training—is not the easiest thing in the world, but it was done. Each trooper, schooled in discipline, and with the motto, "Your duty is to make the Pennsylvania Police Force the finest thing in the world," worked in military style and with characteristic efficiency, until they mastered the mechanism.

As soon as the men finished training they again began their patrols, and delighted to "show up" their fellow cops on the "beat" by bursts of speed that would have made them liable to arrest if they were not policemen. They have seen the first to respond to calls for assistance at short notice; they have matched their speed with the most powerful racing cars and won, and have often escaped accident only by sheer nerve. They have made it their business to keep the tail light of the fugitives car always in sight.

THREE NEW MEMBERS OF ANTIOCH FACULTY ARE NOW ADDED

Horace L. Gardner, Miss Katherine Huey and Philip Nash, are three newly appointed members of the faculty of Antioch College, who will go to Yellow Springs some time this month to begin organizing the industrial relations and student employment work at the college.

Mr. Gardner will have charge of the industrial relations at Antioch and will also establish a consulting service in employment and industrial relations throughout the Miami Valley. He is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was a successful engineer and then organized the employment service for the Cheney Silk Mills in Connecticut, the largest plant of its kind in the world. During the war he was one of a commission of five that organized the personnel service of the army and since that time has been with the Dupont interests.

Miss Huey will have charge of industrial relations for women and will also do consulting work. She was in charge of employment and industrial relations for the Curtis Publishing Company and later did similar work for the Bell Telephone Company, having the entire state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Nash is a Harvard graduate and was with the Boston Elevated Railway Company for two years. He now has charge of 500 students of Northeastern College, Boston, who are doing half time work in New England industries. He will be released from that connection this month and will start his work at Antioch immediately.

CANTATA REPEATED DRAWS BIG CROWD

The repetition of the cantata "Triumphal Life" by the choir of the Lutheran Church, Sunday evening was welcomed by an audience that filled the church. The cantata was rendered in a very pleasing manner, and the interpretative quality well brought out.

The choir was composed of 16 voices. The music for the cantata was arranged by J. S. Farris, a well known composer of church music. The text was prepared by Camille Sanderson.

The program of the cantata is as follows:

- Introduction (Prelude)
- "Dawn of Easter Morning," (Solo Trio for women; Trio for Men; Choir)
- "The Sepulcher," (Solo; Bass solo; Choir)
- "The Keepers at the Tomb," (Choir Trio for Men's voices) "The Women" (Choir, Tenor solo.)
- "They Have Taken Away My Lord" (Contralto Solo, choir.)
- "Woman, Why Weepst Thou?" (Baritone Solo.)
- "Fear Ye Not" (Choir.) "The Risen Christ," (Contralto Solo.)
- "Oh, For a Song of Matchless Sweetness," (Choir.)
- "We Hail Thee, Our King," (Soprano Solo.)
- "Oh, Glorious Dawn," (Choir.)

CHANGE MANAGEMENT OF LOCAL CONCERN

Management of the wholesale and retail departments of the Mullen-Jenkins Tobacco Company will be conducted separately by the partners, Rufus M. Mullen and Street B. Jenkins, from now on, according to the announcement just made.

Mr. Mullen in the future will have complete charge of the Mullen-Jenkins cigar store and barber shop on East Main Street, which represents the retail branch of the business, from now on, while Mr. Jenkins will devote his entire interests to the wholesale department, which has its location in the Graham building on Whiteman street.

The change is made, it is announced because of Mr. Mullen's experience in the retail work and the operation of a barber shop having conducted a shop on South Detroit Street for a number of years.

SMALL HAUL MADE BY THIEVES SATURDAY

Burglars secured loot amounting to $282 when they broke into the grocery and meat store owned by Charles A. McNett, on Charles Street, sometime late Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

The burglars broke out a window, sash and all, and took the cash from a cigar box, in which some money from late sales had been put. The police were notified of the burglary.

PLEADS FOR TIME EXTENSION TO PAY BIG ALIMONY

White Plains, N. Y., April 4.—Counsel for James A. Stillman, multi-millionaire president of the National City Bank who is suing his wife Mrs. "Fifi" Potter Stillman, for divorce, today pleaded before Justice Morschauser for an extension of time for the banker to start paying the alimony of $90,000 a year set a few days ago by the justice. The Banker's counsel also asked that the amount for alimony and counsel fees be paid to Mrs. Stillman in installments, explaining that the banker, although wealthy, would find it exceedingly difficult to raise such a sum of money on short notice.

At the conclusion of the hearing Justice Morschauser suggested to counsel for both sides that they sit down with him at a private conference in his chambers and try to agree on the form of order to be entered as to alimony and counsel fees.

TO ADVERTISE FOR BIDS ON SCHOOL BUILDINGS SOON

The completion of details in the plans, by the architects, Pretzinger and Musselman of Dayton, within the next two weeks will mean that bids for the contract work on the two new school buildings to be erected here, will be advertised at that time.

All preliminary work on the East Market street building for colored students is completed, but the architects have not completed the detail on the new Central Building which will be erected in the Dodds addition on Church street.

This work will be completed within two weeks, and the Board of Education has instructed the architects to advertise for bids on the work at that time. If the work is started as soon after the bids are opened as possible, it will take at least a year for the construction of the two buildings, it is said, making them ready for occupancy at the beginning of the fall term in 1922.

In the meantime, bids for the construction of the athletic field, in the big six acre park donated by F. W. Dodds, owner of the Dodds addition for that purpose will be advertised soon and that work will be completed this summer. The development of the location for an athletic field, requires considerable grading but the addition of stands and bleachers, after that, is not a remote possibility.

The bond issue to erect the two new school buildings was for $550,000, part of which will be expended on each school, according to the size of the building. Tentative plans announced for the buildings last fall, which will be carried out, promise the city two handsome and up-to-date structures for school purposes.

WAS OLDEST LIVING ALUMNUS OF COLLEGE

Springfield, Ohio, April 4.—Rear Admiral David Kindelberger, Medical Corps, U. S. N., the oldest living alumnus of Wittenberg College died at his home in New York a few days ago according to word received here. He graduated from Wittenberg in 1855.

Admiral Kindelberger was known as one of the few survivors of the naval campaign in the Gulf of Mexico and on the Mississippi river during the Civil War. He was chief surgeon on Admiral Farragut's flag ship, and was a close friend of the great Union naval commander.

FIRE CAUSES SMALL LOSS AT RESIDENCE

Small loss was sustained at the home of Harvey Clayball, just off the Wilmington pike, near the gate of the O. S. and S. O. Home at 11:30 o'clock Monday morning, when a spark from the flue set fire to the roof.

The blaze burned a small hole in the roof. Men working nearby detected the flames, and by use of a ladder and several buckets of water extinguished the fire. The Fire Department answered a call to the fire, but the blaze was extinguished before the department arrived, the location being outside the city limits. The house is owned by John Barnett.

RESIGNS POSITION WITH CITY TO ACCEPT NEW PLACE

Harold W. Dice, who for more than a year has been employed by the city as Inspector of Construction, has resigned his position with the city to accept a position as estimator and draughtsman with the McDowell & Torrence Lumber Co.

Mr. Dice was formerly associated with the architectural firms of Pretzinger and Musselman and E. J.

SEATS GO ON SALE FOR SHOW TUESDAY

Reserved seats for "Fads and Fancies," the musical revue to be presented here Thursday and Friday under the auspices of Catherine Greene Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will go on sale at Sohn's drug store Tuesday morning, at nine o'clock.

As previously announced, the tickets have been exempted from war tax, because of the patriotic and educational purpose and the tickets are being sold for $1.

It is of interest to local admirers of home talent productions that Roy C. Hayward and Harry E. Kiernan, both blackface artists of note, will work under the burnt cork in the new revue. They appear as black face comedians in roles that add much to the mirth provoking qualities of the piece.

BACK TO OLD PRICE GOES DRECO JUST AS "SPRING TONIC TIME" COMES

Your favorite remedy is now sold at "before war" price. Announcement comes right when you'll be buying medicine to clean out your system.

Just at the time many people will want to take a good medicine to clear out their systems and tone up the vital organs, the announcement comes that the old reliable remedy Dreco, favorite in thousands of families, is back to "before the war" prices. This makes it economical enough for everyone, to take a full treatment of this splendid medicine.

Dreco is the same medicine of which Mrs. Almira Carlisle said, "I had pneumonia which left me weak, pale and thin. I became nervous. I'd roll and toss all over the bed not able to sleep. My bowels were constipated and my kidneys annoyed me day and night by being too active."

"I took a treatment of Dreco and it is remarkable how I improved on it. Very soon my bowels became regular, kidneys were strengthened, my nerves quieted down so that I'd sleep all night long and my appetite grew daily. I've gained weight and strength till today I'm feeling as well as I ever did in my life."

Dreco builds up the whole body and strengthens it, clears the blood of poisons and impurities, stimulates the liver into healthy action, corrects constipation and clears the system of malaria and biliousness. Women who have spells of depression and blues, poor circulation, hot flashes, numbness, no appetite, sleep badly and are pale and listless find in Dreco just what they need.

Dreco is being specially introduced at Sohn's Drug Store in Xenia, and sold by all druggists.

"THE AMERICANIZATION OF EDWARD BOK"—A WONDERFULLY INTERESTING BOOK.

"That is a good book which is opened with expectation and closed with delight and profit." We got two such, as presents, last Christmas. One of these is "The Americanization of Edward Bok"—an autobiography. To start with, as an advantage to old eyes, it is delightfully printed in large type, so that no eye strain is necessary in reading it.

It is scarcely necessary to tell who Edward Bok is, for perhaps no man in the country is better known as a public character, having been the editor of the Ladies Home Journal for thirty years. And this volume was given to the public practically on his retirement from that position last summer.

Why the "Americanization?" Because he was foreign born. As he says: "Here was a little Dutch boy unceremoniously set down in America, unable to make himself understood, or even to know what persons were saying; his education was extremely limited, practically negligible; and yet, by some curious decree of fate, he was destined to write, for a period of thirty years, to the largest body of readers ever addressed by an American editor."

The book is a handsome, well illustrated volume, and the portraits show his parents to have been well-to-do people when they came over. The father was an L. L. D. at that time, which in a measure accounts for the son becoming a man of eminence. Blood will tell.

The family settled at Brooklyn, N. Y., and this seemed a fortunate circumstance for it later led to Edwin associating with many leading men, including Henry Ward Beecher. Being of an industrious nature, ever seeking something to do, his first job in the new country was to wash a baker's window twice per week, the pay being 50 cents per week.

With his seven years school days ended, self-education became an absorbing thought with Edward Bok. Having become a Western Union Telegraph messenger boy, he was often thrown in the presence of leading men, such as W. H. Vanderbilt, Alexander Graham Bell and Thomas A. Edison. He knew that some of these men, too, had been deprived of the advantages of a collegiate education, and yet they had risen to the top. But how? The boy decided to read about them—and saving his money bought Appleton's Encyclopedia, and did so. But, boy like, he went further. He got to writing to them, and this led many of them to feel an interest in him. The mania to gather their autograph letters seized him, and much space in the book is given to his enterprise in this direction and the interesting things that resulted. Nobody was too high for Edward's boyish approach: President Garfield, General Grant, General Sherman, President Hayes, all were called upon.

One evening after the close of business he called on General and Mrs. Grant at the Fifth Avenue Hotel and was almost paralyzed by being forced to go down with them to evening dinner. Among the later incidents recorded was this question by General Grant: "Tell me, my boy, why did you have the wine glasses removed from your place?" He told him and it pleased the General. Another of the incidents of the meal was Mrs. Grant calling a waiter to bring her a paper bag into which she emptied the contents of a wonderful dish of nuts and raisins which she gave to Edward, saying: "Something to eat on your way home."

A number of Edward's youthful enterprises are told of before he became of age, including what is termed the publication of "syndicate" matter, having imbibed a decided taste for the editorial habit. What might be termed his early manhood, saw him engaged as an employee of the widely known publishing house of Charles Scribner & Sons, the firm that thirty years later became publishers of his own book. Of course up to this time he had been living in New York and Brooklyn—but now came a decided turn in his affairs.

Mr. C. H. K. Curtis, the owner and publisher of the Ladies Home Journal, of Philadelphia, had heard of him in a literary way and induced him to accept the editorship of that journal, which up to then had been conducted by Mrs. Curtis. All Edward's friends advised against the step—going to Philadelphia, they said, was going out of the world—they all believe that the sun rises in the East river and sets in the North river.

And thus it came about that this Dutch boy, as he seems more than willing to call himself, was transferred from the Metropolis, and became the editor of the Ladies Home Journal in 1879, and so continued for thirty years, a long time, and has just stepped down and out from the post, a very rich man and the son-in-law of Mr. Curtis.

Buy the book, on our recommendation, and you will thank us for the suggestion.

THE COLOMBIAN VIEW

A citizen of Columbia, writing to a New York paper regarding the proposed treaty, says:

"Columbia admires the United States, but is afraid of her. In fact, the whole of South America admires the United States but is also afraid. This indeed will be no base of a sincere understanding or a true Pan-Americanism. For this reason the United States will do right if she removes the mistrust existing between her and her continental sisters. A new policy founded upon justice and on the respect of weak peoples will create a better realization of the Monroe Doctrine."

This puts the whole matter neatly in a nutshell. The writer finds much satisfaction in the appreciation of these facts shown by President Harding and a large group of United States Senators. There can be no doubt that intelligent public opinion, in so far as it is not influenced by personal or partisan reasons, inclines to the same view.

The long-drawn-out controversy with Columbia over the Panama Canal settlement is not the greatest obstacle, but the most immediate and annoying obstacle, in our international relations. A proper adjustment of that difficulty would at once increase the confidence of Central and South America in the sincerity and friendship of the United States. It would strengthen the Monroe Doctrine and make it more acceptable to our Latin neighbors. It would stimulate our Latin-American trade. It would go far toward lining up the whole western hemisphere to present a united front to the Old World, and thereby help immensely in promoting the foreign policies of the United States.

We would hate to be a soldier in China. There are no monuments to military heroes over there.

ALL YOU NEIGHBORS THAT HAVE BEEN WAITING FOR THE FROST TO GET OUT OF THE GROUND BETTER BE GETTING YOUR SEED IN!

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

There was a rushing trade all day long yesterday at the Davidson Drug Store, owing to the announcement made by the firm that the entire proceeds of the soda water trade would be turned over to the building fund of the Reformed Church. On this account there was a greatly increased patronage in the soda water business and a good sum was realized.

The Miami Grain Company is now nicely located in its new rooms in the third floor of the Allen building, the office being very handsomely furnished.

Everything now is about in readiness for the beginning of the contract labor system at the work house. The machinery is now all in place and the wheels will be put in motion tomorrow for the manufacture of brooms. Under the new system of contract labor it will be necessary to have two day guards in addition to the foreman of the workshop.

Charles Orr, of Cleveland, is in the city and will remain for a couple of days on business connected with the traction line now being constructed, between this city and Springfield. Charles has an abiding faith in the future of Xenia.

Make Experiments on "Water Dog" Found in Greene County

A real "water dog," not a spaniel, but a type of fish that closely resembles the dog, and is known technically as a "mud puppy" or neoturus maculosus, has been found in Greene County.

The "water dog" was caught in the Little Miami river at Trebeins two weeks ago, by Earl Littler and Herman Sweeney of this city, who doubtless of its exact place nature's family, showed it to Frank Chambliss of this city, a Senior at Antioch College and an ardent student of biology, for verification of their original conjecture that it was a "water dog." The fish was captured with a hook and line and the fishermen claim that it barked when brought out on land, like any dog.

"Water dogs" are not very common," according to Mr. Chambliss, who made a complete diagnosis of the fish, even to the point of dissection, and now preserving it in alcohol, at his home laboratory, where it can be seen by any of the curious. There might be one found around here in every three or four years," he said.

As a means of verifying or denying a popular belief that the "water dog" is poisonous, Mr. Chambliss tested it for poison, first examining the mouth for poison bags, tradition saying that the bite of the "dog" is poisonous. Persons believing this story are all wrong, according to Mr. Chambliss, who says there is really no record of anyone dying from the bite of one of the "dogs" in the first place.

Mr. Chambliss says: "In studying the vertebrae it is unfortunate that they be studied as a whole because while you may be perfectly at your own liberty to expect to find poison from the Class Reptilia (reptiles) from poison fangs or glands, then while studying the Class Pisces (which contain the perch, sun-fish, bass and numerous others leading up to the Eels and then the Pisces which resembles the Eel in outline as mentioned before, the 'dog-fish'), the same person would expect to find the poison some place in the head."

"After hunting for a time in the mouth of the dog-fish for some form of poison and knowing from practical experience that the blood always contains a small proportion of poison, it struck me to wash the 'water-dog' collect the water and experiment with it on some kind of an animal. Poison venom is found in the Class Pisces in two forms—mucous venom and granular venom, both forms of venom coming from different kinds of glands whose secretions are different. Granular venom is the one which I secured by washing the 'water-dog' The glands from which this kind of venom comes are distributed over the entire body, but mostly being in closer contact at the anterior part, many situated on the back behind the head from which the parotid glands depend.

The poison solution secured by washing was first given to a cat by the method of swabbing, which after intervals of 30 minutes each proved that it was non-venomous taken with food. The next trial proved the death of the cat.

These points may prove good advice to fishermen, for while there is little possibility of finding many "water-dogs" in this vicinity, it can be remembered that their bite is not poisonous as the popular tradition goes but that owing to the poison in their bodies, they should not be eaten.

Is It Yours?

This is the Birthday of HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN April 4, 1805.

The Danish poet and writer of fairy tales, Hans Christian Andersen, was born in Denmark in 1805. He was the son of a sickly young shoemaker of 22 and his still younger wife. The whole family lived and slept in one little room. As a little child Andersen showed signs of an imaginative temperament. This was encouraged by the superstition of his parents.

When the boy was 11 the shoemaker died. The little Hans Christian was left to his own devices. He promptly left school and stayed at home, where he built himself a toy theatre and spent the time making costumes for his puppets and reading all the plays he could borrow.

At 14 he was told to think of the future. He was told he was best fitted to be a tailor, but he wanted to be an opera singer, so set off on foot for Copenhagen. Here he was taken for a lunatic and he very nearly starved to death, but in some manner the king became interested in him and sent him to school.

He wrote his immortal fairy tales when he was 30 years old. At first they sold slowly, but within ten years his name was celebrated in every civilized country except his own, where they still didn't quite see the genius in the writer of the stories. When he journeyed to other countries he was treated as a great literary lion. His fairy tales continued to appear occasionally until he was an old man. The last were published in 1872. Andersen died three years later, from the result of injuries received by falling out of bed.

KAROLYI FINDS HAVEN

Belgrade, April 4.—Count Michael Karolyi, leader of the Hungarian independent party, who recently was expelled from Italy, has received permission from the Government to reside in Serbia. He is expected to take up his residence at Dubrovnik.

"OH DADDY" TO APPEAR IN XENIA APRIL 23

Xenia theater goers are going to find much anticipatory delight in the announcement of the Standard Amusement Company that "Oh Daddy," the musical comedy that made such a success here last year, will reappear at the Opera House, April 23.

The same cast is producing the offering this year, with William C. Cushman, as "Daddy," the premier comedian part, and Ella Warner-Davis, the prima donna, whose vocal offerings were well received here last year. Peggy Earle and Martin Bowlers also have string parts in the Company.

Last year, the "Oh Daddy" performance was rated as one of the best of the season. It furnishes plenty of clean comedy, possesses sparkling lines, catchy music, and offers finesse in the way of acting.

THE PEST.

When winter's done its dirty worst, and vernal breezes blow, the dandelion is the first of blooming things to grow; it calmly rears its yellow head as soon as there's a thaw, and it has oftentimes been said there ought to be a law. The grass that cost such toil and care grows not, at spring's behest, and many ghastly spots are bare save for the yellow pest. And man surveys his freckled lawn, and heaves a string of sighs, and mutters low, "So help me, John, whatever's lovely dies; the costly plants I bought last year, were killed by frost and snow, but all around me, far and near, the dandelions grow. The daisies were too good to last, that were my hope and pride; my rose trees perished in the blast, my pink victrolas died; they withered in the storm king's breath, they could not keep alive, but where my tulips died the death the dandelions thrive. Ah, woe is me," says Mr. Man, "this life is full of stings; it seems to be Dame Nature's plan to swat the lovely things. The good and useful man will die, and leave the town in tears and some old cheap and noxious guy will live a hundred years. In human life, as on my lawn, the lovely things must go, and where the grass is dead and gone the dandelions grow."

MENTAL BEAUTY

While you are spending your time improving your physical beauty, you should not neglect one very important phase of beauty treatments—that is the mental improvement.

Very little is written about this side of the question and I am afraid very little is thought about it. We are all attracted by dazzling complexions and sparkling eyes and we are not always so quick to see the inward beauty that may lie behind a wrinkled face, a pug nose or a sal-low skin. So little is written about the value of this inward beauty, that many sensible people look down upon beauty culture as an occupation only fit for the empty-minded the frivolous women.

Mental beauty is enormously important, but it is much harder to teach and much harder to follow. It is something that every woman must acquire for herself. Of course my own attitude toward the whole subject is one of compromise. I do not believe that mental beauty is the whole thing and I do not believe that physical perfection alone is really beautiful if there are no mental or spiritual qualities to match.

But I do believe that every woman spends in honestly trying to improve her appearance is a moment of mental and spiritual, as well as physical benefit. She is trying to increase the beauty of the world when she tries to improve her own appearance.

But, nevertheless, she should not neglect her mind for her complexion. While honestly trying to do everything to cultivate her appearance, she should also keep trying to cultivate her mind, to feed it beautiful thoughts by good reading, while she is improving herself in other ways. Incidentally the time spent sitting relaxing and reading is in itself a beauty treatment, since she will keep her youth and her looks much longer if she has sufficient rest and relaxation.

M. E.—The formula for the black-head cleansing powder is:

BLACKHEAD CLEANSING POWDER
Corn or wheat starch 2 oz.
Powdered Borax 1 oz.
Almond Meal 2 oz.

Rest and read for physical and mental beauty

These ingredients can be purchased in any well-stocked drug store. If they are not kept in stock they can be ordered for you. These are mixed and kept for convenience in a wide mouthed box. Wash the face with hot water, rub in a quantity of the powder and rinse out with hot water. If your skin is dry massage with cold cream. In any case end your treatment with a cold rinse or an ice rub.

BANK OFFICIALS HELD

Sullivan, Ill., April 4.—W. A. Steele and Z. B. Whitefield, President and cashier of the Merchants and Farmers State bank, were arrested charged with embezzlement. The bank was closed recently following the alleged disclosure of a $262,000 shortage.

AUSTRALIANS BACKING BILLY SHADE

Billy Shade, the wonderman of the West, will soon be in New York to give the boys a chance to get a slant at him. Leaving Frisco practically an unknown, Shade went to Australia and stopped three of the best middleweights they had and topped off his visit by making Francis Charles, the French wonder, cry quits in their go.

Boxing fans and writers of Australia pronounce Shade the greatest man of his weight since Les Darcy. They think he can beat the world and will back up their opinion with the peas. Here's a picture of Shade. It is the first one of him ever published in America.

NEW YORK NOT TO HAVE BIG BOUT

New York, April 1.—Tex Rickard counted New York out of the running for the Dempsey-Carpentier fight some time ago. It developed today, commenting on a report from Albany quoting Gov. Miller as opposed to the contest the promoter stated emphatically that the governor will not be put to the trouble of preventing the fight being staged in New York.

Rickard's announcement to the effect that he will name the site April 9 has resulted in a new flood of offers from various sections of the country. He said today that he now has another attractive offer from Montreal. The Cumberland, Md., offer has evidently not been turned down definitely as yet for John W. Snider still is in town.

Snyder said the boxers could go 25 rounds in Cumberland and that Rickard can name his own figure.

Regardless of the new avalanche of offers, however, opinion still prevailed that the bout will land in New Jersey.

KING MEETS KING ON TENNIS COURT

Cannes, France, April 4.—King met king on the tennis courts here but most of the playing was done by their team mates of the fair sex. Mile. Lengien, woman champion of France and ex-King Manuel of Portugal, defeated Mrs. Beaumish, an Englishwoman, and the king of Sweden. Mile. Lengien repeatedly saved Manuel from losing the game.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

Resinol relieves dandruff

Dandruff is one of the most frequent causes of baldness and too much care cannot be exercised in getting rid of it. The Resinol treatment is an easy method. Shampoo with Resinol Soap working the lather well into the roots of the hair. Rinse thoroughly and when wholly dry spread the hair apart and gently rub into the scalp a little Resinol Ointment. If carefully done little Ointment will get on the hair. Resinol Soap and Ointment at all druggists.

Said the old salt to the new seaman, just arrived on shipboard:

"Go up to the crow's nest and see if there are any eggs."

"What shall I do with them, if I get any?" asked the green hand.

"Put them down in the hatchways, of course," replied the old salt.

The new man made the trip aloft and returned to report that there were no eggs.

"Oh, well," said the able seaman as he shifted his cud, "I suppose we'll just have to make the ship lay to."

BEFORE SPRING COMES, TONE UP YOUR BLOOD

Your Blood Needs the Help of Gude's Pepto-Mangan in Springtime to Overcome
Drowsy, Listless
Feelings Called
"Spring Fever"

PALE FACES CAUSED BY BAD BLOOD

That Tired, All-Gone Feeling a Danger Signal That Your Blood Needs This Splendid Spring Tonic

The blood that courses through your body in the arteries and veins is of the most vital importance to the healthy life of the body. The little red corpuscles are what carry life to the millions of cells that make up your body. The blood is also the vehicle that carries away most, if not all, of the waste products.

Springtime is the season when the body adjusts itself from the rigors of winter to the heat of summer. You notice now much sickness there is in the Spring? Perhaps there are weeks when you feel drowsy and listless and you call it "Spring Fever." It is really your blood that has become weak and thin, and it needs help.

Take that good blood tonic—Gude's Pepto-Mangan. It will give the red corpuscles in your blood new power to carry fresh oxygen to the cells all over the body. You'll notice a change for the better in a few days. It brings the color back to pale faces and lifts you out of tired, all-gone feelings so that you enjoy full vigor.

Spring is the time for a good blood tonic. Take Gude's Pepto-Mangan so that you can enjoy the most beautiful season of the year. Get it at your druggists, but be sure it is the genuine with "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" printed on the package. It is sold in both tablet and liquid form. They have exactly the same medicinal value.—Adv.

ADD OVER 500 NEW MEMBERS OF C. OF C. AT CHICAGO HEIGHTS

The following is from the Illinois Journal of Commerce, published by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce every month, and refers to L. C. Tingley, formerly secretary of the Xenia Chamber of Commerce, who has just completed his second month as Secretary-Manager of the Chicago Heights Chamber:

"The intensive membership campaign conducted by the Chicago Office of the American City Bureau resulted in increasing the membership from 276 to 810 and the reorganized Chamber now has an income greater than $20,000 a year. The Board of Directors has elected Lewis C. Tingley, Executive Manager of the new organization, Mr.

Lewis C. Tingley, Executive Manager at Xenia, Ohio, to accept the Chicago Heights position. One of the first projects to be taken up by the Chamber was an intensive educational campaign on the Commission form of Government question, and after several open forum meetings, were held during the latter part of January, the attendance running as high as 700 at one meeting, the citizens of Chicago Heights, early in February, adopted the Commission Form by nearly 400 majority.

Buying on a Falling Market

On a falling market men and women buy prudently. Whether they wish to purchase a pound of prunes or a million-dollar estate they are inclined to shop 'round a bit before investing.

In times like these they read newspaper advertising closely. It is their market barometer.

It tells them what the shifts and changes are in the world of merchandise. It tells of the new things that will better supply old needs.

It tells of the new devices to raise the efficiency of store, office or home.

It helps them to true thrift—the spending of their money wisely.

Newspaper advertising, always read, is read more carefully and generally today than ever before.

Newspaper advertisers are getting results, because it is to the newspapers that people with money to spend are looking for advice.

BASEBALL ATTRACTS ANTIOCH ATHLETES OPENING APRIL 15

With a large squad of recruits already cavorting around the diamond in practice, prospects for a successful season at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, appear especially bright.

With basketball well in the discard now, the athletes are devoting all of their time to the outdoor game, and about twenty pill tossers are ripping up the turf at historic Antioch in preparation for the season's opening which will be held April 15.

On that date, the Cedarville College nine, old rivals of the Horace Mann school, will invade the precincts of Yellow Springs for the initial reel of the diamond pastime. On the next day, the Antioch team will meet the Wilberforce University outfit, at Antioch.

Frank Chambliss, Xenia boy, and second twirler last year on the Antioch team, is again slated to do the hurling. This lad in his early workouts has been displaying an abundance of benders that Yellow Springs fans say will fool the batters like Poch fooled Germany. The local lad is also manager of the team this year and Bales, who occupies first base, is captain of the nine. Other players who have responded to the first practice call and are showing form on the diamond, are Dwight and Lynn North-up, Howard Corry, Bashore, High, Paul and J. Shank, W. Corry, Weston, Dawson, Vannorsdall, Wallace, Niswonger, Little and Hughes, while a number of others are cavorting about the diamond with a good chance of breaking into the pastime.

DECISION ON SITE FOR BOUT AGAIN IS COMPLICATED

New York, April 4.—Tex Rickard's dilemma over where to stage the Dempsey-Carpentier battle was made more complicated today. John L. Sexsmith, a wealthy Spokane, Wash., lumber man, is responsible. Sexsmith according to a report going the rounds has offered Rickard $50,000 above the base offer received by Rickard. It is believed he may stage it at or near Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. With no less than a dozen tempting offers from syndicates on two continents, Rickard will make a final decision during the present week. He has promised to name the site of the contest next Saturday.

New Jersey still stands out a favorite in the betting to land the match.

YOUNG GIRL FINDS RELIEF

Wants to Tell Other Girls
All About It

Evansville, Ind.—"I am eighteen years old and have been bothered for several months with irregular periods. Every month my back would ache and I always had a cold and felt drowsy and sleepy. I work in a millinery shop and I went to work every day, but felt stupid and would have such cramps. I had seen Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and had heard several women talk of it, so mother got me some. This Vegetable Compound is wonderful and it helped me very much, so that during my periods I am not now sick or drowsy. I have told many girls about your medicine and would be glad to help anyone who is troubled with similar ailments. You may use my testimonial as you like."—STELLA LINXWILER, 6 Second St., Evansville, Indiana.

Some girls lead lives of luxury, while others toil for their livelihood, but all are subject to the same physical laws and suffer in proportion to their violation. When such symptoms develop as irregularities, headaches, backaches, bearing-down sensations and "the blues," girls should profit by Miss Linxwiler's experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

SURVEY SOUNDS

OPTIMISTIC NOTE
IN NATION'S AFFAIR

The fact that the business world is still feeling its way, but with increasing confidence and with the conviction that the worst has passed, is the statement of David P. Houston, of the Property and Deposit Company of Maryland, following the second survey taken by that company.

S. C. Wright, of Cedarville, Deputy Probate Judge of Greene County, who represents the Company here, prepared data from this city and county for the survey which covers every state in the Union. The survey shows that the cost of living has appreciably decreased since last September, and that wages too have declined proportionally in practically every state.

According to Mr. Houston the demand for finished products has not yet reached the point where factories feel justified to take the necessary amount of raw materials to furnish relief, but that there is now a tendency in that direction. Business men he says, realize that forced action based on artificial optimism may also lead to unwise action, and are still feeling their way, while foreign trade has not developed as quickly as was thought.

"This survey does point to certain favorable domestic conditions," says Mr. Houston. "The cost of living has appreciably diminished. Building operations in a number of districts tend to increase. There have recently been no strikes of consequence. Greater productivity of labor per man is reported from all districts."

The survey was prepared from a questionnaire of industrial, financial, agricultural and general questions. It shows, there has been no marked resumption of industrial activities, that buying is still restricted, orders are still being canceled on industrial concerns, and retailers have not stocked up in anticipation of a good spring business. Retail prices have not been reduced in the same proportion as wholesale prices, the report shows. The cost of living has been reduced appreciably and no failures of importance have occurred since last September. Industrial concerns are still carrying large amounts of inventory, paper, raw materials are plentiful and transportation is good. Taxation, tariff, railroads and the peace question, are blamed as the problems having the greatest bearing on business prosperity. Sentiment is not favorable to building operations at the present cost, the questionnaire shows.

East End News

Drs. R. D. Russell, McClain and Grey of Cincinnati, were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scott, East Main street.

Fremont Bowen of Cambridge City, Ind., is the guest of relatives here for a few days. He is enroute to Columbus where he will spend some time with his brother, before returning home.

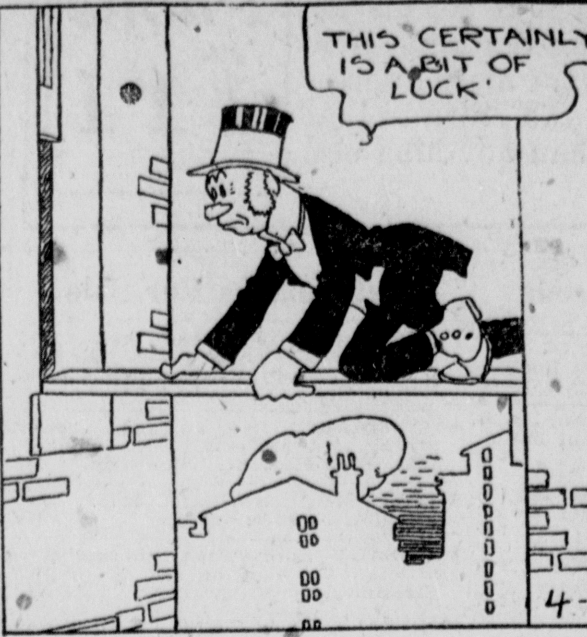

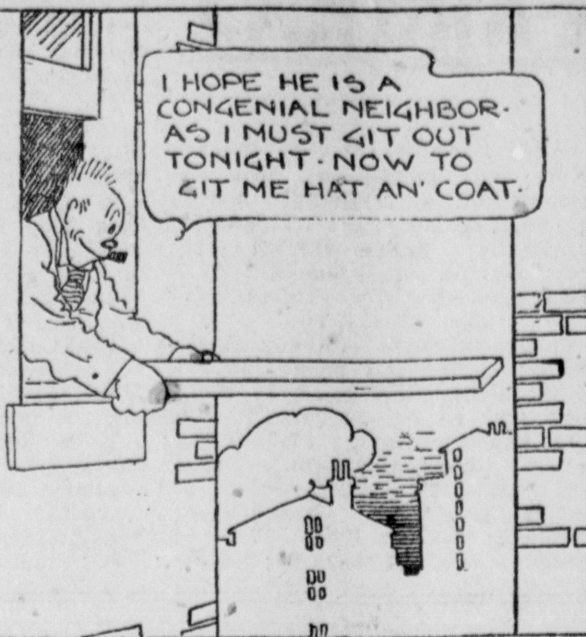

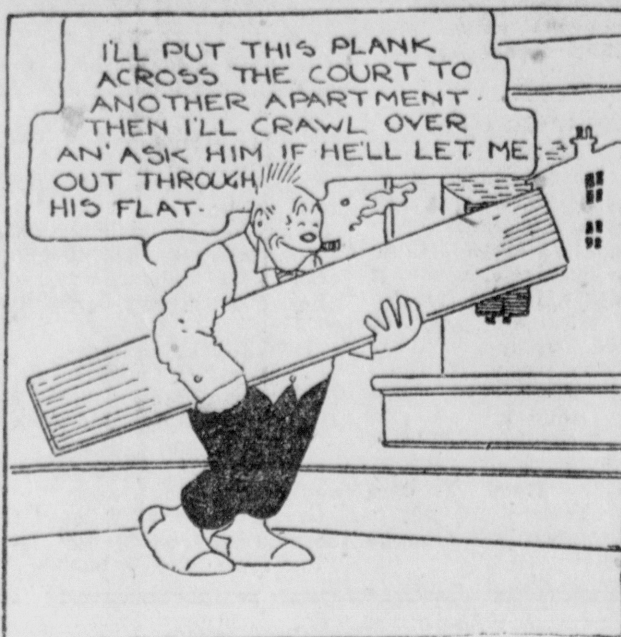

James Glass, East Church street, still continues very ill. Rev. Hammond, a student of the Theological Department of Wilberforce preached two strong sermons at Zion Baptist Church Sunday. Rev. Hammond has made for himself quite a reputation as an evangelistic minister. He recently held two very successful revivals, one with the Yellow Springs Baptist Church and the other with the Cedarville Baptist church.

Rev. G. W. Becton pastor of Zion Baptist Church is able to be out. Mrs. Florence Everett spent Sunday the guest of relatives in Dayton.

Since the organization of local "Woman's Clubs" none have outlined a greater work than the Chalmers Corner Circle. Aside from their needle work much time is devoted to literature and music. This was demonstrated last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Ellsworth Weaklin, 425 East Second Street. Holding their guests spellbound, the members ably acquitted themselves in a "Prologue." The song "Triumph," written by one of their members Miss Elizabeth Hampton, who is one of the teachers in our public school.

Each speaking part was interspersed with music appropriate with the dialogue which was beautifully arranged by Mesdames Maggie Oglesby and Charlotte Lane, also members of the circle. After the musicale the guests were ushered to a room elaborately decorated for the display of the circle's art and needle work, after which refreshments were served. The color scheme of white and yellow was carried out in every detail. The favors were daisies tied with yellow ribbon.

FOUNDER OF RIKE'S
STARTED IN XENIA

In connection with the birthday celebration of the Rike-Kumler Department store, in Dayton, rated as one of the best merchandizing houses in this section, it is announced that David L. Rike, founder of the business was at one time a Xenian man.

Mr. Rike was born on a farm in Montgomery County, July 17, 1824. His youthful days were spent on the farm, but when he was 21 years of age he attended a private academy in this city and the following year made his initial step in the commercial world by securing a position in the Millen Dry Goods store here. His compensation was $60 a year.

In 1850 Mr. Rike went to Dayton and entered a dry goods house there at a salary of $120 a year. In 1853 he founded the business which today bears his name.

Dr. A. E. Baber, superintendent of the state hospital has resigned, claiming that the state has given practically no aid in the past ten years.

VOTE ON STATE'S
MOST POPULAR
TREE IS REPORT

Is Ohio's favorite tree the Buckeye from which the name of the State sprang.

As one of the features of Arbor day, April 8, the state department of public instruction suggests that schools vote on what is the state's favorite tree. Such an election is being held in Washington schools, and more than 18,000 pupils have voted. The announcement urging the vote, said, The oak leads in the balloting there with more than 7,000 votes. In Montgomery county, Ohio, the maple leads with the oak second.

Voting on the question may be made instructive as well as interesting, the department advises by having regular ballot boxes, draw pupils as clerks, two as election judges, hours for voting, and formal counting of the ballot after the polls close.

RECIPES FOR A DAY
Sugar Strings—Mix one cup of flour with two tablespoons butter, one-half cup milk, three tablespoons sugar and juice of one lemon. Cook over fire, stirring constantly until mixture comes away from the sides of the pan. Remove from fire and add four egg yolks and one-half cup finely chopped almonds. Beat thoroughly and cool. Fold in three stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour out on a buttered sheet, dredge with sugar and bake in a moderate oven about ten minutes. Cut into strips and dust with sugar.

Waldorf Salad—Two cups diced apples, one cup chopped celery, one-half cup English walnuts, one cup chopped dates, one cup mayonnaise dressing, one small head lettuce. Marinate the ingredients with the mayonnaise. Serve in a deep cup, made of several leaves of head lettuce.

Bread Crumb Pancakes—One cup bread crumbs, two cups milk, one egg well beaten, one tablespoon sugar, one scant teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder, flour to make batter of medium consistency. Mix in the order given.

LENTEEN DISHES
Oyster Stuffing—One cup cracker crumbs, one-quarter cup melted butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one and one-half teaspoons lemon juice, one cup oysters, one-half tablespoon chopped parsley, one-eighth teaspoon pepper.

Mix the seasoning and butter with crumbs. Remove the tough parts of oysters; add soft parts to the mixture, moistening with two tablespoons oyster liquor.

Baked Mackerel—Remove head and tail. Split fish. Put in buttered pan, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dot over with butter and pour over two-thirds cup milk. Bake twenty-five minutes in a medium oven.

Baked Haddock—About four pounds is a good size to bake. Clean fish, sprinkle with salt, stuff and sew. Cut four or five slits each side of the backbone and insert narrow strips of fat salt pork. Place in pan, sprinkle with a few grains of pepper, brush over with melted butter, dredge with flour, and place around fish small bits of pork. Bake one hour over a medium oven, basting as soon as fat tries out, and every ten minutes afterward. In case fish seems to bake too fast, lower the fire. Serve with drawn butter or hollandaise sauce.

Baked Halibut—Rub a thick slice of halibut, three to four pounds, with a slice of onion; then sprinkle over a tablespoon of lemon juice. Place in a baking pan, the bottom of which has been covered with thin slices of fat salt pork. Place two or three slices of the pork on top of fish. Add a little water, cover and bake.

Bread Stuffing—One cup bread and cracker crumbs, one-quarter cup melted butter, one-quarter cup hot water, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, onion juice.

Mix ingredients, using only a few drops of onion juice.

MOTHER EARTH MAY DO SHIMMY WHEN
COMET COMES CALLING NIGHT OF JUNE 26

London.—There's a big and erratic comet hurtling itself toward the earth at several hundreds of miles a minute in excess of the speed limit. But it probably won't end the world.

It's unusual for comets that are coming right at us not to have the criminal intention of snuffing out the unemployment problem.

Irish problem, the tax question, prohibition troubles and the like once and for all—with a bang. But this is an unusual comet.

In the first place, it's named Pons-Winnecke. It has no right to be meddling in our affairs, anyway. It has been reappearing every five and three quarter years, and it ought to go gliding by a few million miles away.

But it's an erratic monster and the attraction of Jupiter has been giving it a misguided orbit of late.

Hence, it's swerving from its normal orbit at a terrific rate and is due in our midst on June 26.

Comes Dangerously Close.

"It's orbit, then, will almost intersect that of the earth," says Dr. Crommelin, one of the world's foremost astronomers. "But the chances of a collision are not great."

"If the actual date of intersection is through the earth's atmosphere and reach the earth's surface. A collision with the head of the comet would thus lead to celestial bombardment which would have incalculable effects.

"Usually the earth's atmosphere acts as a torpedo-net and prevents most solid bodies from outer space from reaching the surface of the earth. They are consumed as they rush through the air with a velocity of 110,000 miles an hour, and merely give rise to the appearance of a shooting star."

But Sir Richard thinks we'll only get a playful flirt of the comet's tail. A comet's tail, he adds, is an infinitely more perfect vacuum than can be obtained by known scientific methods in any laboratory.

And there comes the best surprise of all. A comet's tail is made up of gases, very rare gases. So rare, in fact, that it is estimated that if the tail of a comet could be compressed to the density of ordinary air it would be of a volume that would comfortably fit into an ordinary pillowbox.

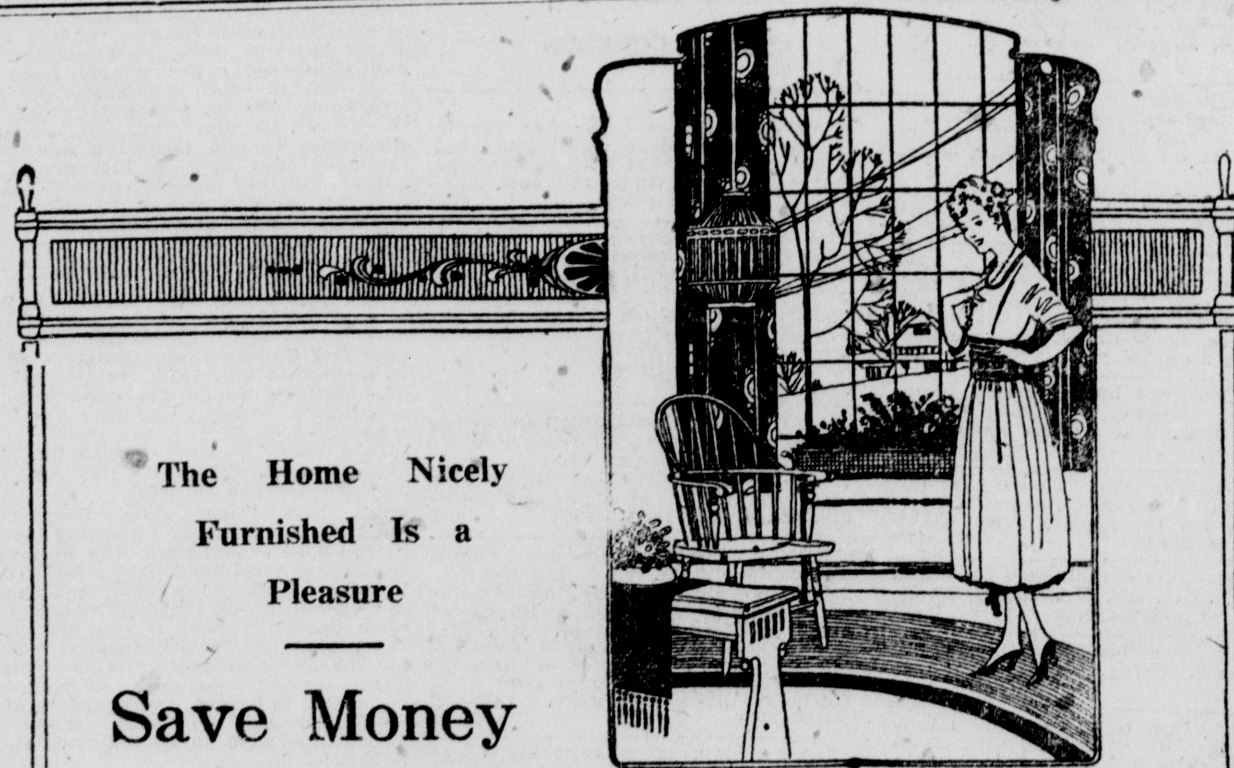

PRINCESS WILL BE
BRIDE OF W. B. LEEDS

Athens, April 4.—William B. Leeds, son of Princess Anastasia of Greece, who arrived here a few days ago by airplane to visit his mother, who is ill, has become engaged to Princess Xenia, seventeen-year-old daughter of Grand Duchess Marie and niece of King Constantine, it was learned.

The marriage will take place in June, probably in Athens, but the young couple plans to reside in America.

Leeds proposed the day after his arrival. It is understood, and was accepted immediately. Princess Anastasia, who still is seriously ill, was upset by the news and opposed the union at first on account of her son's youth, but finally gave her consent.
